

Alone

by

Alexander Lee-Rekers (StageMilk, 2024)

A: Need a friend?

B: Um, no?

A: You're sitting all alone.

B: Oh, that's okay.

A: You look miserable.

B: Do I?

A: I thought I could sit with you, share some company.

B: That's very kind.

A: We can chat if you like, or sit in silence.

B: Silence sounds good.

A: And we can always chat later, if you like.

B: Wait.

A: What?

B: I'm not miserable.

A: Oh.

B: I'm sitting alone because, well, I like it.

A: I'll leave you to it.

B: Thank you.